The Canadian Institute of Steel Construction (CISC) is the national industry organization representing the structural steel, open web steel joist and steel platework fabricating industries. CISC promotes sustainable design and safety, together with efficient and economical use of steel as a means of expanding the construction markets for structural steel, joists and platework. CISC–Alberta Region provides representation in Alberta for our members and associates, undertaking regional initiatives like the Steel Design Awards.

AWARDS

The Alberta Steel Design Awards of Excellence is Canada's largest steel industry awards program and has been hosted biennially in Edmonton since 2007. From the beginning the goal has been to host an elegant, high quality celebration of the very best in steel design. It has often been referred to as the Academy Awards of steel design. The goal of this awards gala event is to share and recognize steel design and innovation excellence – promote awareness of the advantages of steel in construction and create networking opportunities for CISC members, partners and clients. Attendees at the awards gala include fabricators, steel suppliers, government officials, engineers, architects, land developers and energy industry executives.

Projects are entered in seven Award categories: Architectural, Engineering, Sustainability, Bridges, Building Communities and Collaboration. In 2019, all submissions will also be considered for a special award recognizing innovation in the use of steel, entitled the Steel Edge Award.

AWARDS CELEBRATION: MAY 2, 2019

The beautiful Edmonton EXPO Centre Ballroom will set the stage for a special evening featuring:
