Getting to the Stadium

On game day, the streets of Toronto are grid locked. As a result, we have not provided a bus option for this year's fun night. We will however be providing Transit passes that can be used for the day to access the Toronto Transit (TTC) system. <https://www.ttc.ca/en/>

The best options to get to the Rogers Centre (the game) are:

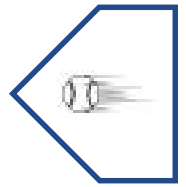

1. Public Transportation-Subway & Skywalk (22 minutes approx.)
The Subway (underground transportation) to Union Station is the best bet to beat traffic. From Union station you can walk to the Rogers Centre by the indoor "Skywalk" or along the streets (see below). This is a mix of walking and transit. We recommend using Google Maps to assist with subway lines and times.
2. Walking (27 minutes approx.) – Recommend Using Google Maps
Caution, GPS gets a bit confused in some parts of the downtown. Best to write down or print the directions prior to departing to ensure you don't get lost from lack of signal.

One can try ride sharing, taxi, city bus, or street cars, however we suggest Google mapping these options prior to selecting to determine the current ETA.

Subway to Union Station (Google Maps can assist in directions to the closest subway station from your location)

1. Start by walking (6 minute walk) from the Marriott Downtown to Dundas Station (3 Dundas St. East). It is located at the intersection of Dundas Street and Yonge Street.
2. Once you reach Dundas Station, enter the station and locate the subway platform for the Yonge-University Line (Line 1) heading South. Enter the subway system at staffed entrances and not at automatic entrances and show your Toronto Transit Conference Day Pass. Board the train heading south towards Union Station.
3. Stay on the Yonge-University Line until you reach Union Station.

Fun Night Details (cont'n)

Union Station to Rogers Centre

Upon arriving at Union Station, there are two routes you can take to get to the Rogers Centre.

1. Indoors (Skywalk) - Approx. 14 minute walk

Follow signs to the Skywalk within Union Station.

Enter the Skywalk and continue walking westward.

The Skywalk will lead you directly to Rogers Centre. Follow the signs and directions along the way.

Enter through Gate 13, using your digital ticket and follow the signs for the Summit Suite.

2. Outdoors (Front Street)

Follow the signs towards the Front Street exit. Once outside, locate Front Street and start walking westward.

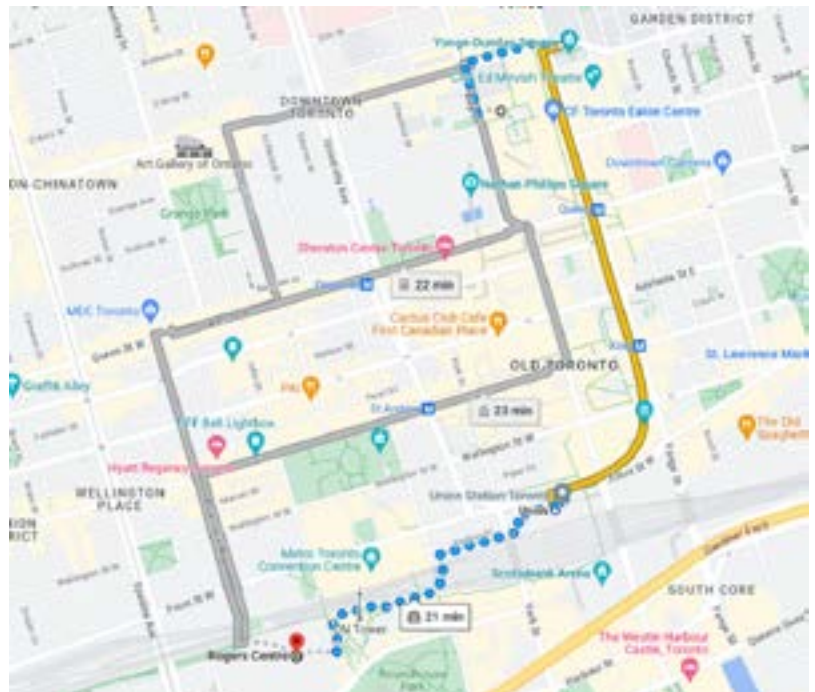

Continue walking along Front Street until you reach the intersection of Front Street and Blue Jays Way. This is where you will turn south onto Blue Jays Way. Walk along Blue Jays Way towards the stadium.

Continue until you reach Gate 13.

Enter through Gate 13, using your digital ticket and follow the signs for the Summit Suite.

Spadina House & Casa Loma

Spadina House (Museum)

Spadina Museum offers a glimpse of Toronto during the 1900-1930 period through the lens of the Austin family. The museum highlights the effects of transformative events on the Austins such as the First World War, the Great Depression, and societal changes in Canada. Spadina Museum opened in 1984 and completed an extensive interior restoration in 2010.

Casa Loma

A prime example of modern Toronto's commitment to its rich history, Casa Loma was first built in 1914 by financier Sir Henry Pellatt. The castle located in midtown Toronto, is now owned by the City of Toronto and is regarded as a treasured heritage landmark.
